

THEORY OF CHANGE FOR FRP-BC

Who We Are

FRP-BC: Provincial association of 200 Family Resource Programs in 80 communities.

What We Do for Our Members

Knowledge and Resource

- identify and research emerging issues affecting families
- disseminate tools on parenting and child development issues

Catalyze a Community of Practice

- facilitated: promising practices, learning events
- Board from all jurisdictions in BC

Professional Development

- build skills and competence of Family Resource Practitioners
- train the trainer on parenting, MH and emerging issues
- FRP Certificate

Performance and quality assurance

- promotion of FRP Canada e-Evaluation tool and other services

Outcomes for FRP Members

Members have

- up to date info on emerging issues affecting families
- knowledge of promising practices
- high quality and relevant professional tools and supports for parents

Members feel a sense of belonging to a larger movement.

Members are trained to facilitate / deliver quality programs and support for parents and families and equipped to apply for funding to carry out these programs.

Members are able to evaluate outcomes and have efficient access to performance and quality assurance.

THEORY OF CHANGE FOR FAMILY RESOURCE PROGRAMS

Family Resource Programs (FRP Members)

A community space where parents / caregivers and children can learn, play and share together in an informal and nurturing drop-in family-centred environment, supported by experienced Family Resource Practitioners

What We Do

Provide tools and training on parenting and healthy child development, including literacy, mental health, positive discipline

Link families to families

Provide resources such as clothing, food and toys

Provide gateway and referrals to external programs and services

Provide stimulating play environment for young children while caregivers engage in parenting programs

Outcomes: parents, caregivers, community

Improved knowledge of parenting and healthy child development

Improved self-confidence in parenting

Access to support network

Increased awareness and use of community resources

Social and emotional competence, including ability to problem solve and manage stress

Outcomes: children

Healthy development

Ultimate outcome

Thriving children

Resilient families

Connected communities